SHOULDER SEAMED
DAHLIA

INSTRUCTIONS

YOU WILL NEED:

- Dahlia Pattern, by Colette Patterns
- Large paper for tracing
- Pencil or pen
- Clear tape
- Ruler

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Trace the Dahlia raglan sleeve pattern piece.
2. On the traced pattern piece, mark the mid-shoulder point at the neckline.

3. Use a ruler to extent the mid-shoulder mark to the hem of the sleeve. This line should be perpendicular to the bottom edge of the sleeve.

4. Cut along the drawn line.

5. Add $\frac{5}{8}$ " seam allowance to the front and back sleeve at the new shoulder seam.

6. To sew, join the front and back sleeve right sides together, using a $\frac{5}{8}$ " seam allowance. A basting stitch can be used so that easy fit alterations can be made to the shoulder before attaching the neck binding.
7. Once the sleeve unit has been assembled and custom fit to your body, sew Dahlia according to the pattern instruction.
